Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

People of a "certain age" that is to say those who have passed the meridian of life usually prefer a middle-of-the-road course in governmental matters. Such people if they do their own thinking come to the conclusion that good and evil are not white and black; that rather often, it happens that the best course, most feasible and most practical, is neither black nor white, but some shade of gray.

This brings us to the consideration of what Lindbergh recently said regarding the forces that are carrying us into war. He said that there were three groups in the United States who are trying hard to force this country into intervention: those of English descent, the Jews, and the administration in Washington. Now what he said about the Jews, if one would take the trouble to read it, was not nearly so drastic as Dorothy Thompson, for instance, makes it. He said that naturaly the Jewish people wanted this country to enter the war to defeat Hitler because of his unspeakable crimes against the Jews in Germany. He gave more attention to this group in his speech than he did to the other two groups, those of English descent, and the administration.

We submit that so far as his reasoning carried him there was nothing especially offensive to the Jewish people therein, because, as a matter of fact it is one of the commonest traits of human beings, anywhere, any time, to fervently hope and work for the destruction of a persecutor more deadly, in this case, than Herod, more bestial and murderous than Attila.

But what Lindbergh forgot to state, is that the Jews are not alone in this feeling of furious resentment against the Hitler regime. True, the Jews have been his whipping boy, his excuse for crimes unparalleled in history. The expulsion of the Jews from Spain was not attended by the widely spread cruelties that Hitler practices upon that unfortunate people. But all senstive and thinking men and women, without regard to race, political or religious beliefs, hope that retribution will be visited upon this monster of the twentieth century, and upon all those who have been his willing tools.

We are not defending Lindbergh. We think he did his country a disservice in even trying to define the various groups who want to use force, whenever it seems necessary to defeat the master of Western Europe. But we do think the interpretation of what he actually said have been sadly garbled by the hot-headed proponents of instant entrance into the war.

As matters stand, we feel and have for a long time felt, that the course we are now pursuing, in arming to the hilt the enemies of the Nazi and Fascist dictators is the most practical means of hastening their fall. If we were to declare war, instantly the extremists would demand an expeditionary force and for that our flow of supplies to the troops actually in the field, intensely battling in the air and on the land and sea, would greatly diminish. As it is we believe that an expeditionary force will never be required, either across the Pacific or the Atlantic. Our navy will take care of whatever emergencies arise in either ocean. This is war of the undeclared kind. We need not quibble about that. To shirk it would be a shattering blow to our national self-respect.

We think that Lindbergh, Wheeler, Nye and the others who are raising clamorous voices against the course charted by the President, cut rather sorry figures in this historical moment. We suspect and it may be proved later, that

Strikers To Vote On Proposal

SCOTIA COMPANY SUBMITS FINAL OFFER FOR SETTLEMENT

A meeting of the striking Scotia miners will be held in Grass Valley tonight at eight o'clock at which time a decision will be reached on the mining company's "final" offer for a settlement of the dispute, which is now in its tenth day.

Federal Labor Concilliator Andrew Gallagher, who has been here for a week making efforts to settle the strike indicated if the strikers did not accept the offer of the Scotia Mine at tonight's meeting the strike would be "a prolonged one".

Gallagher in conciliating the strike drew up several agreements, all of which were refused by the mining company. The company's proposal was made after Gallagher requested it submitted a return to work understanding.

The terms of the company's proposal were not revealed by Gallagher but it is understood it would not include an agreement for the return to work in any capacity of Shift Boss Richard Tyrrell, whose discharge led to the walkout.

In the meantime, the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce, which was requested to lend its efforts to settle the dispute, adopted a "hands off" policy regarding the strike.

In a resolution passed by the chamber yesterday it was stated the dispute was a matter involving employees and employer and of no concern to outsiders such as the chamber.

The Scotia miners walked out on September 8th when Superintendent William Carey refused to reinstate Tyrrell, whom the strikers maintain was discharged because of his refusal to fire several AFL members.

NEVADA CITY NATIVE MAKES GOOD IN CITY

James Harry, Nevada City native who is now a Sacramento businessman and councilman in that city, had his picture and thumbnail sketch of his life in The Sacramento Union today.

The article contained information that he was born in Nevada City in 1888 and got his first job here in a mill.

The Union's story follows:

Deciding if he could make money for someone else he could earn it for himself, James Harry, city councilman and partner in the storage and transfer firm of Ford & Harry, opened his own offices in 1918. He attended grammar and high school in Nevada City, where he was born in 1888. —got his first job there in a mining mill.

Coming to Sacramento several years later he worked as delivery boy for John Bruener company, later became assistant shipping clerk, in 1915 he accepted the position of city salesman for the Capital Wholesale house, left it in 1918, to go into the transfer business with Frank Ford, they've been partners for 23 years.

He's been a city councilman for four years, he filed a petition for re-election in the race November 4. His wife was the late Nettie Ford Harry, sister of his partner, has three chidren, Tom, manager of an Elk Grove packing plant; Mrs. Ida Morehouse of Berkeley, and Carl, a city policeman, now serving in the army at Camp San Luis Obispo.

For diversion he likes to hunt deer and ducks, spends his time searching for game around Williams, also likes to read, especially a good novel, says he doesn't get time to read as much as he desires, however, because his lodge membership keeps him busy, affiliations include Masons, Scottish Rite bodies, Shrine, Eagles, Native Sons and Footprinters of which he is a past director.

Guerdon Ellis Will Act As Advisor In Filming Of Picture

Supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe National Forest is in Hollywood to act as technical advisor in the filming "The Forest Ranger," a movie which will depict the life of a typical forest ranger.

The selection of Ellis as the technical advisor is a signal honor to the Nevada City man, who is president of the local Chamber of Commerce and one of the most active boosters of the city.

"The Forest Ranger" is being made by Paramount Studios. The story is based on Thelma Strabel's novel, which appeared in the September issue of the Cosmopolitian magazine and which has been widely acclaimed as an outstading story.

Ellis is expected to be in Hollywood for the filming of the picture for the next three months. He is to assist in the location as well as the work and habits of the typical ranger.

During Ellis' absence, Assistant Forest Supervisor Ernest L Baxter will be in charge of the local forest service office, with full powers of supervisor.

Ellis was driven to Oakland, where he entrained for Hollywood, by Charles Everhart, executive officer of the Tahoe National Forest.

The bride, who attended the Newtown school, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan of that district.

Grass Valley Hunters At Least Can Say They Fired A Shot

A group of Grass Valley hunters combed the Tallant Lakes region behind Lake Tahoe all day for deer. They did not even come close enough to a buck for a shot.

While trudging wearily back to camp the hunters heard a noise in the brush nearby and saw two ears outlined against the darkening sky.

Without hesitation one of the hunters threw his rifle to his shoulder and fired. There was a thud and then silence. The hunters rushed to inspect their kill

What they saw made them gasp in amazement. Their pack mule had been shot cleanly through the head.

County Sues Estate Of Richard Williams For Total of $2,130

The County of Nevada has commenced an action in the superior court here seeking to recover $2,130 from the estate of the late Richard Williams.

The County of Nevada claims that the amount of $2,130 represents the total in aid given Williams from November 1, 1936 until his death.

The suit sets forth that Williams had made an affidavit at the time he commenced receiving aid that he owned no property in excess of $500. Subsequently, the complaint states, Williams inherited Pacific Gas and Electric Company stock valued at $2,500. He failed to report the inheritance and continued receiving the aid.

It is set forth in the suit that for 31 months Williams received $30 per month and for 24 months received $50 per month.

TWENTY MEN TO BE INDUCTED OCTOBER 8TH

Merle Morrison, clerk of the Nevada County Selective Service board this morning announced the receipt from state headquarters of a call for 21 inductees on October 8.

He stated that there are now approximately 275 men in the potential 1 A class. Usually physical defects and other conditions reduce the number of potentials by 40 per cent. This would leave about 160 men who remain to be inducted. There are some 58 registrants who have not yet been classified and among these are potential 1 A men who can be added to the above totals. The Selective Service board since it began its work last October has classified nearly 3,000 registrants.

Mine Employment Drops In September, Principally Due To Scotia Walkout

INCREASES IN NUMBER OF MEN AT LAVA CAP AND IDAHO-MARYLAND MINES NOTED DURING MONTH

The strike at the Scotia Mine in Grass Valley resulted in a decrease in the number of men employed in Nevada County mines for this month, the regular monthly Nugget survey shows.

The employment figures reveals there are a total of 2,228 men at work in the mines of the Nevada City-Grass Valley district, compared to a total of 2,268 last month.

If regular operations had been continuing at the Scotia the figures would have shown an increase, inasmuch as employment at the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation properties and the Lava Cap Mines were slightly higher than in August.

Idaho-Maryland underground 293; Brunswick underground, 238; Idaho-Maryland and Brunswick surface, 185; private operating payroll, 49, and Bullion 12.

At the Lava Cap Mines there was a slight increase at both the Central and Banner properties. The total Lava Cap payroll is now 350.

Probably the brightest feature in Nevada County mining news during the month was that the Lava Cap Gold Mining Corporation will pay a dividend of two cents. For the past several months there has been no monthly dividend payment to Lava Cap stockholders.

Normal operations are continuing at the five properties of the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd, in this county. General Manager Robert J. Hendricks of the Murchie and Zeibright Mines, who has been acting as a purchasing agent for the British government, with headquarters in New York City, is at present here to see how development operations are proceeding at the Murchie and Zeibright properties. Crosscutting at the Murchie is continuing. The principal development work at the Zeibright is the driving of a tunnel to connect the Zeibright workings with the South Fork of the Yuba River near the Omega Mine.

	Men	Payroll
Empire-Star Mines—

Englebright Predicts Gold Mining Will Be Boom Industry After War

Congressman Harry L. Englebright, who visited at his home here for a short time before leaving for Washington, D. C., for the reconvening of Congress, looks upon gold mining as the safest investment when the defense boom ends.

Englebright said he sees no immediate prospect of a boost in the price of gold, although President Roosevelt has been authorized to raise it to $41 per ounce if he desires or feels it is necessary.

The congressman predicted a trend to gold mining by investors at the end of the war. He said:

"Gold mining will then become the boom industry."

MANY BUCKS ARE BEING SHOT IN THIS AREA

Game Warden Earl Hiscox said many deer are being killed in the Bowman Lake and Graniteville area.

While touring that district yesterday Hiscox validated 23 tags.

The deer this year are not as large as in previous years but all seem to be fat, Hiscox said.

John Gaskins, former Nevada City druggist, had the honor of bringing down the first buck in this vicinity on opening day. Gaskins killed a two pointer in the vicinity of the ski course.

Reports from Truckee indicate many deer are being shot in that vicinity. The Truckee deer are all mule tails while in this district the deer are black tails, considerably smaller than the mule tails.

Trout And Deer Steak Dinner Will Be Held At Keystone Gap Sunday

Many Nevada City residents have signified they will take advantage of the offer of Eleon (Spec) Carvin, Sierra County Supervisor, to enjoy a deer steak and trout dinner "on him" at the Keystone Gap on the Henness Pass Road Sunday.

Since the deer season opened no word has been received here from Carvin but his friends do not doubt that in some manner he has obtained the deer for the steaks. Carvin had already guaranteed there will be trout enough for all.

The only requirement to partage of Supervisor Carvin's offer was to notify him by telephone, postal card or letter that you will be there.

The unique event is Carvin's way of bringing to the attention of the general public of the wonderful scenic and recreational resources of the Henness Pass district.

WAR OF WORDS

"Ivan the Terrible," Russia's mysterious radio heckler, who jams the Berlin radio almost nightly with uncomplimentary remarks about Herr Hitler, is said to be creating havoc at headquarters. "The little man who wasn't there." gets his word in to German listeners by the simple expedient of wedging it in whenever the Berlin announcer pauses for breath. And those few words, because they tell what the German pjeople shouldn't rear, are irritating Hitler no end.

The irony of the situation lies in the fact that Hitler is being given a dose of his own medicine. Nazi strategy has called for the clever and constant use of propaganda to break the morale of its enemies. It has undermined whole nations by insidious propaganda. But now the tables have been turned. The German people are told, on their own wave lengths, all the things they aren't supposed to hear—the reports of German dead and wounded, of ships which foundered and men who will never come home.

The "secret weapon" of this war, as a matter of fact, has been propaganda—a kind of propaganda the world never knew before. Even our own country is making use of it. For the first time in history the United States government owns a song hit—the song "Any Bonds Today." It was written by Irving Berlin; it is sung by Eddie Cantor; it is played by Kay Kyser or Barry Wood. But it belongs to the Treasury Department of the United States government.

It's something worth taking note of. this "war of words" for it may yet turn the tide of battle. This war has not only developed super tanks and Stuka bombers, it has developed propaganda. —Contributed.

INTER-DEPENDENCE DAY

America already has an Independence Day to memorialize its freedom Perhaps it should also have an Inter-Dependence Day to serve as a reminder of how greatly every American depends on every other American for the preservation of that freedom.

The fact is that liberty. if it is to be preserved at all, must be preserved intact—by all of us. for all of us. Deny it to any one group. and the chances are that in time it will also be denied to others. President Roosevelt's recent statement that "the rights of free labor as we know them today could not survive without the rights of free enterprise" serves to illustrate that fact.

Today we are arming to defend free enterprise and all our other freedoms. To do that successfully every one of us —and every group—must surrender some liberties temporarily. But we must make sure that we surrender them only temporarily. We must resolve that emergency controls over our freedom must end with the emergency, and that no one group shall be permitted to use the current crisis to obtain unfair advantages over another. Unless we do that we may learn too late that we have thrown away the very liberties we are making sacrifices to defend.—Contributed.

EDITORIAL SYMPOSIUM

By J. F. McLAUGHLIN
UP Staff Correspondent

Germany's submarine attack on the U. S. S. Greer was not intended to bring the United States into the European war, in the opinion of California editors.

On the contrary, it was believed the incident was staged to encourage Japan into action in the Pacific which might engage America.

However, according to the El Centro Imperial Valley Press, "if the Greer incident is to be the first of many such incidents, it will undoubtedly lead to war—no matter who attacked first. Governments such as Germany do not abide by facts—they abide by their official version of facts. And if Germany does that in this instance, she is on the road to war with the United States, for she cannot let what she calls an unprovoked attack go without punishment."

Declarations of neutrality or blockade zones in the world's oceans, notes the Redding Searchlight, are valid, "only if the country making it bluffs its way and backs up the bluff when challenged. Hitler's declaration of a blockade zone around Iceland and the United States' occupation of Iceland have equal strength (practically none) as far as right and wrong or international law are concerned. The declaration that holds is the one that can be enforced, and it appears that the United States is in the best shape for enforcing.

Convinced the Greer incident will not bring on war, the Oroville Mercury, however, declares "it is unpleasant to have our destroyers made the targets of torpedoes, but as long as they miss, and we don't know for sure what nation they represent the country isn't going to get very excited about it. That isn't saying that we are going to be so pacific as to go along through weeks and months as we did prior to entry into the other world war, and allow a belligerent to sink ship after ship. One overt sinking now and we would be very close to war."

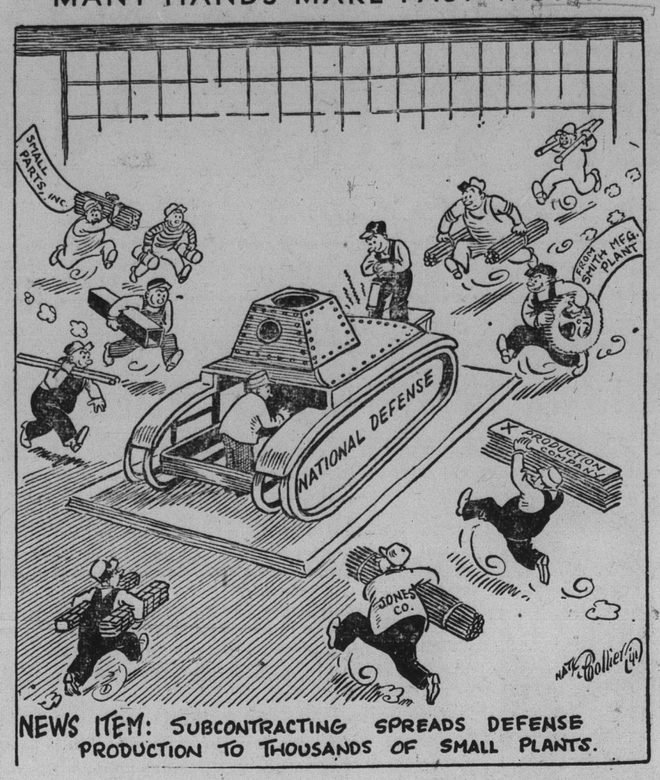
"Whatever the wisdom of the move by this country into Iceland," said the Richmond Independent, "there were sufficient prior incidents to show the desire of the Germans to extend their bases as near to the western hemisphere as possible. The United States has now moved into Iceland and has declared the freedom of the seas between this nation and the former Danish colony. We are still a non-belligerent and still, under international law, we have the right of access for our merchant and naval vessels to the seas."

"It has been assumed by many," notes the Santa Monica Evening Outook. "that Hitler would do all in his power to avoid a conflict with America. If this is true the attack was made without high authority. But the aid we are now giving Britain has become so formidable that Hitler may have concluded we could be no more dangerous as active enemies, especially if by attacking us he could induce Japan to act in the Pacific.

In similar vein, the Santa Barbara News Press points out "Germany would hardly seek to deliberately enrage the United States without a good reason. In this case it is to impress a wavering Japanese cabinet and to entice the Japanese to take steps to stop American aid to Russia via the Pacific ocean and Siberia. The place to watch now for further developments of this incident is Tokyo. Will the Japanese leaders feel if Germany engages the United States in the Atlantic they will be safe in continuing their partnership in the Rome-Berlin Axis to the point of actively attacking Russia and possibly the United States."

"War is at our very doorstep," concludes the San Bernardino Sun. "There is no sense in kidding ourselves any longer. False reassurances are no longer the order of the day. Even though it runs counter to public sentiment, the American people should be told that our Atlantic patrol and the Nazi undersea flotilla have come to grips and that there probably will be unpleasant developments in the very near future."

MANY HANDS MAKE FAST WORK!



NEWS ITEM: SUBCONTRACTING SPREADS DEFENSE PRODUCTION TO THOUSANDS OF SMALL PLANTS.

- - THOSE WEDGES - -

Said the salesman to the millman,
In an eager sort of way,
"Have you got some scraps of lumber
I could buy from you today?"
Said the millman to the salesman,
"Sure, we got some odds and ends,
Long and short ones, thick and thin ones,
And we give 'em to our friends."

Said the salesman to the millman,
"Wife and I are homey folk,
Like to watch a back log burning,
Like the tang of good wood smoke.
Now I'm well supplied with back logs,
But it's kindling that I need,
Can I get a load of stuff today?"
Said the millman, "Yes indeed."

So, the salesman drove his trailer
To the mill yard as directed,
And a pile of sure enough right stuff
His eagle eyes detected.
So, he loaded up the trailer
And prepared to drive away,
Then he heard a yard hand yelling,
"What th' heck there! Hey you, hey'!'

Said the salesman to the yard hand,
"Is the bloomin' yard on fire?"
Said the yard hand to the salesman,
And his tones betokened ire;
"Just unload them miners' wedges.
Who do you suppose you are?
That's an order we're been fillin'
For the boys at Empire-Star."

So, the salesman dumped the wedges
In a baffled sort of way,
Then loading up with odds and ends,
He swiftly drove away.
Now, whenever miners' wedges
Come within his line of view,
That salesman blushes hotly
Same as you or I would do.

they are supported by a large subversive, pro-Nazi element in this country, although they may not be aware of the sources of their support. We can charitably hope that this is the case.

Far more serious than their open and publicized utterances, we feel, is the intolerable action of organized labor in hampering, restricting, and even balking the national effort to produce arms. Until President Roosevelt really copes with this problem, instead of adopting weak paliatives or adroitly side-stepping the issue, he is not assured of that great place in this country's history that he covets.

FORGOTTEN MAN IS NOW SMALL INDUSTRIALIST

By CLEM WHITAKER

The "forgotten man" in America, since the start of the all-out national defense production program, has been the small industrialist — the man with a shop geared to peacetime needs, rather than the manufacture of bombs, ships and flying fortresses!

That is the almost unanimous verdict of California congressmen, who have been swamped with frantic appeals for aid from small manufacturers and business men in every section of the state.

With their supply of production materials suddenly choked off, due to defense priority restrictions, hundreds of small factories and machine shops have closed their doors. And thousands of others must soon follow suit unless relief is speedily given.

Similarly, dealers and retailers—dependent on such factories for the things they sell—have been hard hit and are finding it increasingly difficult to stay in business.

"The plight of the small manufacturer, and the workers in his plant represents the most serious dislocation which has occurred in the country's economic life since the crash of 1929." Congressman Tom Rolph asserted, in summing up the situation. "California, due to the fact that this state is now one of the leading industrial areas in the nation, has a particularly acute problem."

Unofficial word has been received from Washington that the super defense board, headed by Vice President Henry Wallace, will shortly order priority restrictions relaxed for small, non-defense industries, but the extent of the relief to be accorded is still unknown.

New policies are said to be in the making by the super defense board to obtain necessary production materials on a quota basis. It is reported, but as yet without official confirmation, that all supplies contained in the government priority list, chiefly rubber and steel, will be available to small factories within 30 days.

More than 184,000 factories and plants throughout the country, some already shut down — others faced with the threat of being forced to close their doors—will be affected by the board's decision.

And the jobs of approximately 2,000,000 workmen in small industrial plants are at stake.

In addition, hundreds of thousands of wholesale and retail business houses will be saved tremendous losses if a means is found of relaxing the priority restrictions without jeopardizing production for defense.

The "forgotten man" is hopeful of the right answer.

AVERAGE COST OF LIVING GOES UP 5.3 PER CENT

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18. — Al—The average cost of living in California has risen about five per cent in the past year, ranging from 4.9 per cent in Los Angeles to 5.3 per cent in San Francisco, the state department of industrial relations reported today.

The greatest part of the rise was attributed to increased food prices, estimated at 10.9 per cent in Los Angeles over a year ago and 10.8 per cent in San Francisco.

A great demand for exact data on cost of living was reported by the department. Much of the interest was attributed to the fact that many union contracts contain "escalator" clauses which provide for automatic pay increases when living costs rise beyond a certain point.

WORK POOL TO CURE POST WAR SLUMP PLANNED

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—(UP) though the end of the war is not yet in sight, the state of California already is planning for the bursting of the defense bubble. In order to cushion the shock of the let-down in a state which has received a lion's share of the defense business, Killion has ordered the state planning board to collaborate with federal authorities in mapping a post war works program to absorb the unemployed.

Killion expects to go into the subject thoroughly at the Sept. 16 meeting of the planning board which is a unit of his department.

He believes the program should include not only the $60,000,000 ten year state institutional building program which was deferred by the 1941 legislature but all other public projects which may be held in abeyance until the zero hour arrives.

The planning board was asked to work with county and municipal governments in classifying local projects which are not immediately necessary and which would form a post war "work pool."

There is a possibility, Killion added, that the state may likewise appeal to private industry to postpone expansion plans where they would not conflict with national defense needs.

HUGE CYCLOTRON THIRD FINISHED

BERKELEY, Sept. 18.—With one year of work completed on the University of California's new super cyclotron, this world's largest atom-smasher is today about one third finished. The huge cyclotron is expected to be ready for operation sometime in the fall of 1943.

Delayed about three months because of difficulties in getting steel, engineers are now ready to put the finishing touches on the giant magnet and construct the building.

The foundations for the columns of the 24 sided building which will house the 4900 ton machine are now in place. The 30 foot high magnet is completed except for the top pole piece, and engineers are now building a power line from the campus proper to the cyclotron site on a hill a half mile away.

When the atom-smasher is completed it will be at least five times as powerful as the largest existing cyclotron in the world today ,the 225 ton machine now in operation on the Berkeley campus.

It will be used to manufacture radio-active elements, the radium-like substances which are being used for fundamental research in nearly all the physical sciences and in experiments on new treatments of disease.

FOREIGN NATIONALS MUST REPORT

Nationals of foreign countries whose bank accounts, safe deposit boxes, securities or other property were "blocked" by executive order of President Roosevelt must file individual reports with the nearest Federal Reserve Bank before September 3, or face a penalty.

This was the advice given today by the California Bankers Association which pointed out that many nationals are under the impression that they are relieved of all responsibility if a bank files a report concerning their property. This is not true. Regardless of any action by a bank separate reports must be filed by the nationals themselves. Reports must also be made by persons holding property of nationals, by organzations whose securities are held by nationals and by persons acting as the agents or representatives.

Those affected by the president's order can obtain the necessary form, TFR-300 at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

CONSERVATIVES EXPECT TO WIN STATE ELECTION

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—(UP)—The state assembly "economy bloc" probably vanish from the legislative picture when the 1943 session rolls around—at least so far as the present membership is concerned.

This was indicated by the number of "trial balloons" being loosed by the assemblymen with other political aspirations, by declarations of many members that they planned to return to private business, and by prospects of others being eliminated at the polls.

A new group modeled along the same lines may be formed, of course if Culbert L. Olson is returned to the governorship, but capitol corridors gossip indicated a growing belief the big punch of anti-administration battles would be gone if the key figures of the present bloc were removed.

So far the "trial balloons" for the 1942 election have produced few results. Administration intimates are confident Olson will seek re-election and they believe he can shatter precedent by becoming the first governor since Hiram Johnson to win a second consecutive term.

On the other hand, some "economy bloc" legislators feel that the conservative wing of the Democratic party has the best chance of capturing both the nomination and election. And they present Speaker Gordon Garland, vigorous anti-Olsonite, as the logical representative, of that viewpoint. For his running mate, Earl Desmond of Sacramento, speaker pro-tem, and a leading figure of the "economy bloc" has been suggested. Both Garland and Desmond are actively engaged in agricultural pursuits and would be highly acceptable to many of the farm groups.

From the Republican wing, of the bloc, there has been a dearth of gubernatorial "trial balloons". Conversations for the most part center on whether Attorney General Earl Warren would be willing to try for the gubernatorial post. Warren, it was felt would draw heavily from the Democratic party's registered vote, which now carries an edge of about two to one. Assemblyman Lee Bashore of Gendora and James Rolph, of San Francisco, son of former Governor Rolph, have been mentioned as likely prospects for the lieutenant governorship.

Another aspirant to unseat Governor Olson is State Senator Robert W. Kenny of Los Angeles. His supporters point to Kenny's legisative record as an outstanding lure for votes, particularly those of the liberals in heavily populated areas.

Lieut. Gov. Ellis E. Patterson already has announced his intention to seek re-election. While he has not become fully reconciled to Olson since their break last year after the governor requested him to shift jobs Patterson still is willing to try again for the post as running mate of the present chief executive.

If all the candidates go to the post, the "economy bloc" stands to lose several of its high command, as well as many of the lesser light.

For instance, it is reported Assemblyman Charles W Lyon, one of the bloc's master strategists, has decided to run for the senate post now held by Kenny. Assemblyman Jack Tenney, Inglewood, also would like the job. Assemblyman Seth Millington of Gridley, is said to have decided to leave the political field for the private practice of law. With Garland and Desmond eyeing the higher political positions, four of the six outstanding leaders in the bloc would be gone from the assembly group, provided all trial balloons and present plans are followed.

Additional losses to the anti-Olsonites are predicted through reported desire of many members to quit politics for private business. Among them are Robert M. Green, San Francisco Republican, now serving his second term, Jesse Randolph Kellems of Los Angeles and Gerald Kepple of Whittier.

Others that may leave the state services to win county political posts according to reports around the capitol, include Hugh Burns, Fresno; Harold Sawallisch of Richmond; and Melvyn I. Cronin of San Francisco.

One of the assembly's two women members—the veteran representative of the Pasadena district, Miss Sleanor Miller, has stated definitely she will not be a candidate for re-election.

Returns From New Mexico—

Mrs. Gypsy King, who has been in New Mexico nursing a daughter, who had been ill, has returned to Nevada City. The daughter has recovered from her illness. During her several months stay in New Mexico Mrs. King's father and an uncle died.

U. C. SURGEONS PERFORM RARE OPERATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—A method of releasing the heart from a constricting trap set by a rare and fatal disease is being utilized by thoracic surgeons of the University of California Medical School.

The condition is known to doctors as constrictor cordis, or Pike's disease, and is caused by a low grade infection of the pericardium, the loose sac in which the heart is encased. Normally the sac is limp and flaccid, with plenty of room in it for contraction of the muscles which cause the heart to beat.

However, as the result of infection, usually rheumatic or tuberculous, calcium is deposited on the percardium and it begins to harden and shrink. This deposit is calcium carbonate, and is marble like. The sac becomes a bony encasement which gradually tightens over the heart muscles.

These muscles are unable to contract normally; the heart is prevented from becoming properly filled with blood; and the flow of blood through the heart to the rest of the body is diminished as much as 50 per cent.

Thoracic surgeons of the University of California utilize a delicate operation for freeing the heart of its marble like prison. They cut away as much of the bony pericardium as is necessary, some times as much as three quarters of it. The pericardium is not necessary for the satisfactory functioning of the heart, and so patients may live comfortably without it.

The recovery of bedridden invalids with protruding abdomens and short breath is remarkable. Even during the operation the heart begins to return to normal.

Operations on four patients with this rare malady have been performed at the University of California Medical School, and all have been successful.

WALLACE BEERY IN BARNACLE BILL COMING

Romance and comedy take a joy ride together in "Barnacle Bill", Wallace Beery's newest starring vehicle which will open Sunday at the Nevada Theatre.

Beery forsakes Western adventure for the waterfront and a tuna fishing fleet, and is teamed with Marjorie Main, "ladyblacksmith" of "Wyoming," in a rollicking love affair that is augmented by fights, thrills and other excitement.

Beery plays a waterfront loafer who falls in love, is faced with the care of a small daughter, played by Virginia Weidler ,and goes to work. He champions the fishermen against a price fixing combine and emerges the hero of the fishing village.

His comical lovemaking reaches an absurd climax when he and Miss Main warble sentimental ditties to the accompaniment of a wheezy reed organ. He and Barton MacLane stage a vicious fist fight. There are thrills among the boats of the tuna fleet, and Miss Main adds to the general hilarity by getting jealous of Connie Gilchrist, playing a rival charmer, with a resulting hair pulling battle that quite sets the record for feminine frays.

Richard Thorpe, who directed "Wyoming" directed the new comedy with deft skill, and Leo Carillo, Donald Meek, Sara Haden and others are among the principals. Effective photography by Clyde DeVinna and the musical score by Bronislau Kaper add interest to the comical waterfront idyll.

SLEDGE OFF OF PLACER JUNIOR COLLEGE STAFF

Note: Reverberations of the scandal attending the arrest of several school men thyrogh the state, accused of collecting unemployment insurance on fictitious names reached the Placer Junior College this week when the associate dean of men, Lenard W. Sledge, abruptly resigned. The Auburn Journal reporting the incident states:

The board of trustees of the Placer Union high school and Placer junior college accepted the resignation of Lenard W. Sledge as associate dean of the Placer junior college at a special meeting Monday.

The action was taken immediately after receiving the written resignation of Sledge. A letter from Sledge, addressed to the board, read as follows:

"Gentlemen: Please accept this resignation effective immediately. I regret any embarrassment I have caused your board. Sincerely,

L. W. Sledge."

The letter was mailed from San Francisco and was dated September 13. Sledge's employment with the district is terminated as of September 15. Dr. E. E. Oertel said.

In connection with its action the board made the following statement through Dr. Oertel:

"Whereas, certain informaton came to the Governing Board of the Placer Union high school district through the newspapers and the District Attorney's office, that L. W. Sledge associate dean of the Placer junior college has committed dishonest acts, and a telegram was received from L. W. Sledge, seeming to admit these reports and expecting cancellation of his contract, and whereas Mr. Sledge's resignation written and signed in his own handwriting was received in the office of the Placer Union high school, now therefore, be it resolved that this resignation be accepted and the termination of Mr. Sledge's service becomes effective September 15, 1941.

"The Governing Board understands that proceedings against Mr. Sledge are to continue and that the County Board of Education and State Department may take steps to revoke his county certificate for teaching and his state credentials for teaching, respectively.

"The school board of the Placer Union high school and junior college district has no authority to revoke credentials. It can suspend a teacher on a basis of the revocation of certificates or credentials by the County Board of Education or the State Department of Education.

"Since the written resignation came in, the Board of Trustees could terminate Mr. Sledge's employment without waiting for county or state action.

"Since Mr. Olson returned to the junior college staff as an instructor rather unexpectedly, and since the junior college enrollment is approximately 35 per cent under what it was at the same time last year, the Board is not considering the appointment of a new associate dean for the present.

Dr. Oertel, as Dean, will assume Mr. Sledge's responsibility. The Dean of Men and the Dean of Women of the junior college are to be given additional administrative responsibilities. Mr. Crabbe will serve as acting registrar and Miss Mobley will assume responsibility for attendance records. Changes in assignment for other instructors will be made early this week.

"Dr. Oertel will keep regular office from 8:30 to 9:30 each morning and from 4 until 5 each afternoon."

Former Fireman Admits Thoughtlessness In Throwing Cigarette From Automobile

Joseph L. Morgan, salesman, Auburn, was fined five dollars in Justice of the Peace C. E. Smith's court, Truckee, for throwing a burning cigarete from an automobile along U. S. Highway 40, August 31, according to District Ranger H. I. Sniler of the Tahoe National Forest. When Morgan was apprehended by Protective Assistant N. S. Stone, he stated his worst punishment was the fact of his being so thoughtless after having been a fireman in Southern California at one time.

GOVERNOR OLSON PROCLAIMS NEWSPAPER WEEK

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—(UP)—Lauding California newspapers for preservation of freedom of the press in these critical times, Gov. Olson has proclaimed the week of Oct. 1 to 8 as Newspaper Week in California.

The text of the proclamation follows:

"American civil liberties, including freedom of the press, guaranteed by our constitution are the bulwarks of American democracy.

"The preservation of these liberties is an inspiration to every citizen in our preparation for national defense against aggression by enemies of democracy.

"Upon the newspapers of our state and nation rest the grave responsibility of faithfully reporting current events and disseminating factual information in order that their readers may be truthfully informed and that none shall be mislead in the performance of his duties of citizenship. The failure of any newspaper to live up to that responsibility by publishing half truth, misleading reports, false propaganda is an abuse of the right of freedom of the press.

"The need of clear and informed thinking is necessary for united action in the determination of our foreign policy. It is also essential in times of peace when democratic processes are put to the test of constructive action in meeting our serious internal, economic and social problems.

"National Newspaper Week, to be observed Oct. 1 to 8, has as its slogan "The newspaper lights the way to freedom." May all newspapers live up to the implications of that slogan and light the way of freedom from dangers to our national security and from obstruction to the social gain that may be achieved by a well-informed and enlightened electorate in the solution of our internal problem through our democratic processes.

"Now, therefore, I, Culbert L. Olson, Governor of California, do hereby proclaim the week of October 1 to 8 as Newspaper Week in California and call upon all residents of this great state to join in the observance of National Newspaper Week, in recognition of the duty of the press in the present emergency and its responsibility to the people in the period of reconstruction to follow the current world upheaval."

ROAD OVER ECHO SUMMIT TO BE OPEN ALL WINTER

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 18.—(UP)—U. S. Highway 50—the "Emigrant Wagon Road" of pioneer days in California—will be kept open this winter for the first time in its history as a transcontinental route.

With authorization of the state highway commission, the division of highways is constructing a bunkhouse and other buildings on a five acre tract near Echo Summit, the 7,394 foot maximum elevation on the road.

Orders for two large type rotary snow plows and two four wheel drive trucks and push plows have been placed and delivery promised about December 1.

State Highway Engineer C. H. Purcell estimated the cost of snow clearing operations would be about $40,000 annually. A crew of 20 men will be employed on day and night shifts. The year around highway campaign has been pushed by residents of the Placerville Lake Tahoe area who recognized it as a major recreational and travel center which should not be blocked in winter months.

The 20 miles of highway through the high country and over the summit from Kyburz to Meyers has a total snowfall somewhat greater than Donner Summit on U. S. Highway 40, which in severe winters exceeds 500 inches, with an average snow pack of about nine feet.

U. S. 50 begins at San Francisco, continues through Sacramento, then via Folsom, Placerville, and Kyburz, Echo Summit, Lake Tahoe, Carson City, Nevada, to the East coast.

The Placerville-Lake Tahoe section dates from 1854 when the legisature authorized advertising of bids in response to public agitation for a "post road or other road from the Sacramento Valley to the Missouri river by way of Great Salt Lake." The road, known as the "Emigrant Wagon Road," was completed in November, 1858. Later it was taken over by private interests which profited handsomely from tolls during the period following discovery of great silver deposits in Nevada. In 1895 the state again assumed control of the road.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

MERIT

It is not what he has, not even what he does, which directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.—Amiel.

Man's chief merit consists in resisting the impulses of his nature.—Samuel Johnson.

Good actions crown themselves with lasting bays;
Who deserves well, needs not another's praise.—Robert Heath .

Human merit or demerit will find its proper level. Divinity alone solves the problem of humanity, and that in God's own time. "By their fruits ye shall know them." —Mary Baker Eddy.

Life is continually weighing us in very sensitive scales, and telling every one of us precisely what his real weight is to the last grain of dust.—James Russell Lowell.

Merit is never so conspicious as when coupled with an obscure origin just as the moon never appears so lustrous as when it emerges from a cloud.—Bovee.

Local Football Fans Will Be Able To Get Tickets Through Telegraph

"The Nevada City telegraph office will accept orders for tickets to the games at universities and colleges, wire the money to the college town, and have the tickets held at the gate or the telegraph office there as the purchaser may prefer, pending arrival of the buyer on the day of the game.

"This arrangement will make it possible for our Nevada City people to obtain their reserved seats for the football games with a minimum of difficulty and expense."

RUDOLPH DIESEL THEME OF MOVIE AT ROTARY CLUB

The Nevada City Rotary club at luncheon today in the National Hotel celebrated its sixth anniversary. Charter members were asked to stand and Auld Lang Syne was sung in memory of the late Oscar Odegaard, who with Frank Finnegan was a founder of the club. Members who signed the charter and are still in the club are Horace Curnow, Frank Finnegan, Walter Carlson, Hal Draper, Chester Scheemer and Dr. Walter Hawkins.

The club was entertained by a movie sponsored by the Standard Oil company, showing the dramatic success of Ruhoph Diesel in inventing the engine named for him, after bitter disappointments and long striving. His disappearance while on his way across the English channel to discuss the use of his engine by the British Admiralty, was featured. It is still one of the great mysteries of criminal annals. The story of the Diesel engine finally merged into the story of the laboratory battle to find a suitable lubricating oil for it.
